

"SPORTS OF THE TIMES"-DISPATCH

PROSPECTS FOR COLLEGE SPORT

Indications Point to Very Successful Year at Richmond Institution.

NEW CAPTAINS ARE CHOSEN

Something About Men Who Will Manage the Teams of 1907.

Reports from all departments indicate that the new athletic season at Richmond College will be one of the most notable in the history of the institution. Under the skillful direction of Mr. E. A. Dundy, Jr., who was fame last year by his splendid coaching of the football squad, the teams are getting down to work in good earnest, and are setting forth to capture new laurels. The organization of the teams was practically completed at recent elections, and the current issue of the Messenger contains a number of interesting announcements.

Baseball. Baseball prospects are declared to be excellent. There is already much enthusiasm among the students, and on all warm afternoons the campus is dotted with many prospective baseball men, who look forward with much interest to the opening of the season. Thirty men have already applied for positions on the team, which is an unusually large number for such an early date.

The old men back are Mench, Luck, Saunders and Gardner, outfielders; Smith and Miller, battery; Martin on first, and Captain Richardson in his old position at third. Among the new men are many promising candidates, especially for pitcher, catcher and short. Lodge, who was Port Union Academy's star catcher last season, will be a valuable addition to the squad. There will be indoor practice each afternoon until the weather conditions allow outdoor work.

Richardson, who for the past two years has played fast ball on the infield, was unanimously chosen captain for this year's team. He is continually among the students, "fishing out" good material, and so far has succeeded in finding many promising candidates.

New Uniforms. The schedule has practically been completed, and the baseball fans of Richmond will not only have a chance to witness games between Richmond College and her old rivals, William and Mary and Randolph-Macon, but will be treated with exhibitions with such teams as Pennsylvania, Princeton, Gallaudet, Trinity, Syracuse, Davidson, and the teams of other large universities throughout the country. The schedule will consist of about twenty-five games in all.

The equipment for the team has arrived, and as is in readiness for the men to don their new uniforms. The team will be fitted out in the most approved manner, and the college colors will be brought out by sweaters. The management will be handicapped in fitting out the entire squad because of the fact that many of last season's uniforms were stolen during the summer.

Football. Mr. O. R. Thraives, the man who is to captain the football team of Richmond College next year, has been from Amelia county, Va., where he was born and received his early education. In the fall of 1904 he entered Richmond College, and began at once to take an active part in athletics, and particularly in football. Prior to this time he had never had any experience with the pig-skin, and he entered into the sport with a vim. Accordingly, because of his method of plunging and bucking, somewhat characteristic of a rival in readiness for the event of battle in his nostrils he received the appellation of "Old Horse," which has clung to him.

Mr. Thraives played the position of guard on the Richmond College team of 1904, and the next fall went to the Virginia Military Institute, where he did stellar work as tackle on the strong team of that institution. Last fall, however, the power of his first love was too strong for "Old Horse" to resist, and he returned to Richmond College, taking up his former position of guard.

Mr. Henry H. George, 3d., of Richmond, was recently elected student manager of the 1907 football team, and at the last meeting of the executive committee of the Athletic Association Mr. Robert N. Pollard, of Richmond, in accordance with a recent amendment of the constitution, was elected graduate manager.

Work on next year's schedule has already begun.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., February 19.—Mr. William Garth, the well-known Albemarle trainer, who, with a bunch of second-raters and patched up cripples, won more races last season than did any other horseman on the American continent, will ship his string of racers to Benning's to-morrow. The shipment will go as a second section of Chesapeake and Ohio passenger train No. 4, and will occupy three or four palace cars.

Certainly never before in the history of Virginia horsemen has such a large number of famous winners, white as the State without accident or mishap, and showed better form and fettle at the commencement of the spring racing season.

The Garth string of fifty-five includes the following, who have made the running at Benning's, Pinhook, Toronto and Sheepshead Bay, and who have come through a winter in Albemarle as fresh and healthy as when they first waited

DIAMOND STUD, MONEY AND FRIEND LEAVE DONLIN

CHICAGO, February 19.—Michael Donlin, member of the New York National League baseball team, was robbed last night of $50 in cash and a diamond stud. A stranger, who gave the name of T. P. Smith and his residence as New York, told Donlin that he had just arrived from New York, and was without money or friends. His story aroused the sympathy of Donlin, and he invited Smith to share his room for the night. This morning, when Donlin awoke, he found that Smith, the money and the stud had disappeared. He reported the matter to the police, and Smith was later arrested.

RECOGNIZE VA. HUNTING CLUBS

Mr. Duncan Wright, Master of the Riverside Hunt, Writes Interesting Letter.

SHOULD HAVE RECOGNITION

Calls Attention to the Fact That Virginia Has More Hunt Clubs Than Any Other State.

Petersburg, Va., Feb. 19th.
Editor of The Times-Dispatch:
Dear Sir:—The account in your recent issue of the recognized hunts of America and the hunts of Virginia, recognized and unrecognized, is of much interest to all sportsmen. Your statement shows that one-third of all the recognized hunts in the country are in this State, and that there are numerous others that could put up a strong bid for recognition.

Under these circumstances it would appear to be very much to the general advantage if at least one of the three members of the hunt committee of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association were a representative Virginian; it would undoubtedly very much lighten the work of the committee, as the latter would then have among its own members much valuable knowledge of localities and conditions in this State, and that there are numerous others that could put up a strong bid for recognition.

UMPIRE SIGNED.
Andy Stanton Coming to the Virginia League.

Andy Stanton, who has for three years officiated in the Tri-State League, will be with the Virginia League this year as an umpire. He has defied all the mobs in the Tri-State and the New York State Leagues, and is said to be a man who can hold his own with any ordinary ball player. If trouble is wanted, then some trouble starts—but never until the game is over. The umpire comes with the highest recommendations and is said to know the rules from beginning to end.

He will be one of the four men who will work in the Virginia League. Just who the other three men will be is not known, but Hoffman, one of the umpires of last season who "made good," and who was liked in every city in the State, will not be here. He will go with the Eastern League at a much larger salary.

Hoffman was an honest, simple and knew the game from beginning to end. He will umpire the practice games for the University of Virginia this year. Hoffman was with the Virginia first year before coming to Richmond, and proved satisfactory to all the fans.

ALLEN TRAINS IN ENGLISH STYLE

Diamond Jim Brady's Trainer Canters Charges in All Kinds of Weather.

NEW YORK, February 19.—Every day jogging through the snow and slush of the Coney Island Boulevard on a snappy, rally-poly little colt may be seen a dapper man with white hair and grizzled mustache, arrayed in the smartest of English riding breeches, puttees, coat, etc. It is "Matt" Allen, the $10,000 trainer of "Diamond" Jim Brady's string of thoroughbreds. Because of his love of dress Allen has long been called by his confederates the "big glove" trainer.

He has in his charge at Sheepshead $200,000 worth of thoroughbreds, which he is already busy preparing for the coming metropolitan season. An accompanying photograph shows Allen during his stay in England as trainer for James R. Keene, several seasons ago, adopted the very sensible and convenient custom of the English trainers of following his charges on horseback as each set is sent out to work or gallop. Allen also being to the old English method of training and drilling his horses day after day in long, slow gallops that most American trainers now contend take away a horse's courage and dulls his spirit as well.

Last season, by virtue of paying fabulous prices for "ready to win" horses Allen conducted a very successful campaign. After the retirement of Harry Payne Whitney's splendid colt, Burman, the Brady stable made almost a clean sweep of the three-year-old stakes with Accountant, which was purchased from Captain Harry Brown at some such fairly-late price as $45,000. Four-year-old, bought for $35,000, was so successful in the two-year-old division, and led to a scandal which ended the connection of Jack Martin as rider for the stable.

Martin was recently suspended for the rest of the winter at New Orleans. Allen has not lost faith in Fountainblow, however, and has the flashy chestnut three-year-old out cantering along the Boulevard every day.

The following were the scores and players:

Hicks	113
Kahn	107

To-night the Northside and the West-End teams of the Greater Richmond Bowling League will contest for honors. Both teams have strengthened a great deal in the past week, and a good game is expected.

The following is the standing of the clubs of the Greater Richmond Bowling League:

Southside	15	7,141	476
West Ends	12	5,652	471
Northside	12	5,615	468
